

Future Perfect Continuous

Affirmative Sentences

- The assisting word "have been" is used after "shall," "will." In future perfect continuous tense continuous verb (1st verb form with ing) is used.
- Then, use the "for" and "since".

Subject	+	Will / Shall	+	have been	+	basic form of verb + ing	+	Object + since/ for	+	Remaining sentence
He	+	will	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour
I	+	shall	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour
It	+	will	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour
She	+	will	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour
They	+	will	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour
We	+	shall	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour
You	+	will	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper for	+	an hour

Future Perfect Continuous

Negative Sentences

- Between shall / will and have not word is used to make a negative sentence.

Subject	+	Will / Shall + not	have been	+	basic form of verb + ing	+	Object	+	Since/For
He	+	will not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
I	+	shall not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
It	+	will not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
She	+	will not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
They	+	will not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
We	+	shall not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
You	+	will not	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour

Future Perfect Continuous

Interrogative Sentences

- To make an interrogative statement of future perfect continuous tense helping verb will/shall is used at the start of the sentence before subject and have been is used after the subject.

Will / Shall	+	Sub	+	have been	+	basic form of verb + ing	+	Object	+	Since/For
Will	+	he	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
Shall	+	i	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
Will	+	it	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
Will	+	she	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
Will	+	they	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
Shall	+	we	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour
Will	+	you	+	have been	+	tearing	+	paper	+	for an hour

Future Perfect Continuous

Affirmative sentence

- Alia will have been teaching the students for three hours.
- He will have been mending the walls since morning.
- The farmer will have been ploughing the field for three hours.
- The gardener will have been looking after the garden for three years.

Negative Sentence

- I shall not have been taking examination since 1990.
- They will not have been catching the fishes for two days.
- We shall not have been playing the piano since at night.
- Ali will not have been beseeching me for an hour.

Interrogative sentence

- Shall we not have been sleeping since at 8 o' clock?
- Will they have been operating computer for fifteen minutes?
- Shall I have been misguiding for four days?
- Will they have been solving the sums for three days?